

Honolulu Health Department Makes Unprecedented Exception: Allows Child to Attend School Without TB Skin Test or Vaccinations

by W. Glenn Moore

Many may not be aware of the ongoing legal controversy in the state of Hawaii regarding vaccinations and the TB skin test. Dr. Leonard Horowitz, health researcher and author of several books including Emerging Viruses: AIDS and Ebola—Nature, Accident, or Intentional? has been seeking to reform Hawaii state laws concerning the mandatory vaccination (including TB skin test) for school children. Horowitz, who lives with his family in Hawaii, became the focus of the Honolulu Health Department one year ago when his own daughter was taken out of school for this one reason—refusing to take the TB skin test.<sup>1</sup> I will explain later how my own child was able to obtain an exemption from that same health department.

I have personally been studying this issue for many years now and I know that the vaccinations ARE NOT a legitimate, scientifically sound, method of preventing disease. I did not obtain my beliefs directly from Dr. Horowitz (although I have learned of his work over time). Strangely, although we come from different backgrounds, we seem to share many beliefs in common. My beliefs regarding vaccinations came from my own personal study into Scripture as I examined it in light of modern medical practices. What I found in my journey through the Holy Scriptures (that many are required to swear to in a court of law) is that modern medical practice is largely in conflict with the simple methods of healing as taught in Scripture. As a result of my journey, I ended up forsaking the barbaric vaccination program as taught by the medical establishment, the government and the media. Even my family and friends do not seem to understand, though I have attempted on several occasions to explain to them the problems with modern allopathic medicine in their use of “sorcery” drugs.

In our home, we practice simple health laws concerning both external and internal cleanliness. We feel the best way to avoid disease is to eat only Biblically Kosher food as prescribed in Torah, and to also follow the basic laws of sanitation as presented there. It all starts with Genesis 9:4: "But flesh with the life thereof, which is the blood thereof, shall ye not eat." It ends with Leviticus 11 and Deuteronomy 14 (which distinguishes between clean and unclean meats— such as pork and shellfish). To my understanding, there is no difference between “eating” a prohibited item and injecting it directly into the bloodstream (except that by injecting it directly it can be expected to do far more harm than when taken orally). Since I am not a Jew, I find it amazing that many (but not all) Jews have forsaken this simple teaching and will eat whatever they wish (clean or not) and permit the use of vaccines. Even those in Rabbinic Judaism, while they abstain from unclean meats, permit the taking of vaccinations<sup>2</sup> all the while knowing that they contain Biblically unclean ingredients—including known poisonous substances, blood from unclean animals and even aborted fetuses!<sup>3</sup> I do not agree with their understanding, as Scripture clearly forbids this practice.

Now that I have built this foundation, I need to tell you about a very important series of events taking place right now in Honolulu. I was recently involved in a situation with my family in Honolulu regarding mandatory TB skin testing for my son who was seeking admittance to a private school. When we objected to vaccinations on religious grounds, they graciously expressed an understanding of our concern, but insisted that without the TB skin test he could not be admitted into school. I contacted the head of the TB program at the health department there (Dr. Jessie Wing), and was told that the TB skin test was required by their policy, and therefore alternative testing could not be allowed until their policy and the legal codes were changed. I was, therefore, unable to obtain an exemption for my son. Within a few days, I contacted a lawyer on Hilo (Gary Zamber) who gave some basic advice and encouraged me to prepare for a lawsuit. I later told him that I needed to continue to negotiate with the health department longer and seek a resolution to the problem before taking the step of filing a lawsuit.

About a week later, my wife, Estrella, and our son went to the health department in Honolulu to resolve the issue. They were accompanied by her sister, Josephine. I am not aware of what was actually said, but there was some discussion privately between Dr. Wing and my wife's sister. As my wife later explained it to me, Dr. Wing asked her and our son about their vaccination history. My wife told her that she received vaccinations in her youth, but did not understand the issues at that time as she does now. With regard to my son, she told her that, in the 9 years he has lived he has never received vaccinations—as this is in conflict with our religious beliefs. They had been living in the Philippines from his birth until only a few months ago.

What happened? Amazingly, the health department consented to allowing my son to attend school with only a medical exam and chest x-ray! Interestingly, for the past year many have been following the case of Dr. Horowitz and his daughter. As a result, the

<sup>2</sup>See "Ask the Rabbi" at http://ohr.edu/ask\_db/ask\_main.php/174/Q2/. "Dear Rabbi, Are we required to immunize our children? . . ." (His answer) "Our Sages teach that in medical matters we should rely on the experts in each generation. . . . There's no blanket answer concerning all vaccines, but certainly many childhood diseases have been practically eliminated or reduced since their introduction. . . . Find a doctor whom you trust to help select the proper immunizations for your child."

<sup>3</sup>Many vaccines contain mercury, aluminum and formaldehyde, and the fetal tissue, organs or blood from various animals, including chickens, cats, pigs, monkeys and aborted human fetuses. Here is a complete list of ingredients from many of the vaccines used today, as given in the 1997 Physicians' Desk Reference http://www.tetrahedron.org/articles/vaccine\_awareness/ingredients.html Documentation is abundant showing that even human fetal tissue is indeed used in the preparation of many vaccines. Here is just one: "Explant cultures were made of the dissected organs of a particular fetus aborted because of rubella. . . . The fetus was surgically aborted 17 days after maternal illness and dissected immediately. Explants from several organs were cultured and successful cell growth was achieved from lung, skin, and kidney. It was then grown on WI-38. The new vaccine was tested on orphans in Philadelphia." The American Journal Diseases of Children: Virus Production and Biological Control of Live Attenuated Rubella Virus Vaccines, Vol. 118, Aug., 1969.

Honolulu Health Department (through Dr. Wing) has insisted that they are required to follow state policy and that state policy does not currently permit alternative TB testing methods to the TB skin test. Nevertheless, at that recent visit she consented to allow my son to receive only a chest x-ray and physical exam so that he could in turn obtain his TB clearance card!!<sup>4</sup> This represented an enormous and unprecedented concession on the part of the Honolulu Health Department—a 180° turnaround from the previous firm requirement that our son receive the TB skin test prior to being allowed to attend school. Thank you very much, Dr. Wing, for doing the right thing!! Now, would you be so kind as to permit others (including the child of Dr. Horowitz) to receive their exemptions also?

When I first heard this news, I was surprised!! It was Dr. Wing herself who told me, as I had called her again only a few hours after my wife and son met with her. I was puzzled by her answer, however, as she stated that she had “made an exception” regarding my son receiving TB clearance!! Why would she need to “make an exception” when it is clear that the policy of the health department is obviously in conflict with state, federal and constitutional law?<sup>5</sup> Such a beneficial action on her part should never be considered a special favor. Because of the wording of her verbal concession, I felt it was important to keep quiet and wait to see what the outcome would be—maybe another disappointment was on the horizon. But on September 19 my son was admitted to the Moanalua Elementary School in Honolulu. We initially wanted him to attend a private school, but decided we cannot currently afford it. HE DID NOT RECEIVE THE TB SKIN TEST (which we consider a form of vaccination), nor did he receive (or has he ever received) vaccinations / immunizations of any kind.

I believe that this concession on the part of the health department is only the beginning—great changes are soon to come!! I want to play a part in that process, sharing my convictions both by voice and in print regarding the same. I support any legislation similar to that originally proposed by Dr. Horowitz which would extend to us true freedom of religion through vaccination waivers (including opting out of the TB skin test). This battle has been won, but the war is not yet over! In recent years, a supposedly harmless Tetanus vaccine has been used in the Philippines, Mexico, and Nicaragua to induce women of child bearing age to induce sterility or even abort their own babies.<sup>6</sup> The Centers for Disease Control (CDC) and the World Health Organization (WHO) have been using foreign “third world” countries, the military, orphans, and the state of Hawaii as proving grounds for experimental vaccinations for years.<sup>7</sup> All of this is being done in preparation for a final assault to those living in the heartland of America, an assault which, if successful, would fundamentally tear down the very fabric of constitutional law and support the setting up of a New World Order through drug induced genocide.<sup>8</sup> It is now time for us to come out of hiding and fight in the front lines of this issue before the battle is brought to our own doorsteps. Hawaii is now that legal front line, and this is where I believe the war will either be won or lost.

<sup>4</sup>In order for my son to receive a TB Clearance card he was required to go through a medical exam and take a chest x-ray. While I feel too many x-rays can be harmful, I personally believe that such a course would not be a violation of Torah.

I wish to leave you with this promise from Scripture, one which I always look to when issues like these come up, such as the mandatory vaccinations/TB skin test issue. Please do not be disturbed by the use of the true Hebrew names and titles, as such use only brings more glory to the true Creator:

. . . If thou wilt diligently hearken to the voice of Yahweh thy Elohim, and wilt do that which is right in his sight, and wilt give ear to his commandments, and keep all his statutes, I will put none of these diseases upon thee, which I have brought upon the Egyptians: for I am Yahweh that healeth thee.
(Exodus 15:26)

Aloha and Shalom!
